Visitors to the Frost Centre's sugar bush watch eagerly as staff members pour boiling syrup onto the snow to cool. The sweet taste test was one of a number of activities which visitors to the centre could enjoy Saturday. One of the most popular attractions was the pancake and sausage luncheon, featuring the maple syrup from the area sugar bush. Close to 300 individuals took advantage of the day to learn something about maple syrup production and tour the centre.

Property owners say Trent-Severn authorities are unco-operative

In a broad ranging letter to the Haliburton Water Levels Committee, the president of the Horseshoe Lake Property Owner's Association Gene Lucas has described the Trent-Severn Waterways management as "insensitive, inflexible and unwilling to co-operate to resolve the concerns of many people." The letter, a copy of which was sent to the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden and read at the March 24 meeting, was in response to a reply the organization had received from Parks Canada about water levels on the lake. The letter from Lucas claims that the biggest obstacle standing in the way of improved water level control, "...is that an 'inordinate amount of effort' would be required by the Trent-Severn crews to reduce the level fluctuations." The writer suggests that with high unemployment, those in charge of water levels should be able to hire more manpower, or automate the operation of the dams to give the organization better control of the water system.

Lucas blames the inability of the Trent-Severn authorities to respond, for the high water experienced late last year in Gull River through Minden, Minden Lake, Horseshoe Lake and Mountain Lake, "while the lakes farther north were empty."

"I don't want to be labelled as someone who is trying to tell the Trent-Severn how to run their business," the letter continues, "however, we don't think they do everything in their power to alleviate the problems that we encounter in the Minden area."

The letter suggests that the water authority is willing to meet the needs of the White Water Association, but ignores the consequences to others in the area. He states that when the dam above the Horseshoe Rapid is closed overnight to build up the supply of water for canoe or kayak races, the water level in Horseshoe Lake can increase by three inches. "...people on the shallow part of the lake awake to find the watercraft they thought were safely pulled up on shore have floated away. Also, people who have just lowered their docks to adjust for the water level prior to the dam being closed, will find their docks floating in the morning."

The letter points out that most people on Mountain Lake feel the 100% capacity level established by the Trent-Severn authority is too high, especially with the contour of the land around the lake taken into consideration. It points out that high water levels can result in flooding to septic systems, erosion to the causeway and leaves the lakeshore properties vulnerable if heavy rains should occur.

Lucas also suggests that each year a two week period of low water levels should be maintained to give property owners an opportunity to work on their docks, beaches and retaining walls. He suggested the time around the Thanksgiving weekend would be appropriate for the lower

Police search for companion of victim in cottage shooting

Police are still baffled by the shooting of a Scarborough man at his parents' cottage on Bob Lake during the past week. The incident, which occurred between Thursday and Saturday, has stunned the community and left those who knew the victim, 24 year old Charles Edward Palmer, wondering why anyone would want to kill the young man.

Details of events leading up to the shooting have been slowly coming to light as police piece together evidence provided by witnesses.

Palmer left his parents' home in Toronto on Wednesday to drive to the cottage on the lake seven kilometers west of here. One of his reasons for coming to Minden was to attend the local Masonic Lodge meeting which was to have been held Thursday evening. According to information provided by his parents, the victim was alone when he left for the cottage.

Palmer never attended the Thursday evening Lodge meeting, nor did he return home as expected on Friday. This prompted a number of phone calls from his parents to the cottage and, when no one answered the phone, his mother and sister drove from Toronto Saturday to investigate.

When Mrs. Palmer arrived at the cottage she discovered the body of her son slumped over the sofa. He had been killed by two gunshot wounds, one to the head and the other to the chest. The authorities were notified and a massive manhunt with officers combing the bush throughout the Bob Lake area was mounted Sunday. The ground search was assisted by the OPP helicopter but was hampered by heavy snow falls. The efforts proved fruitless.

Throughout Sunday, access roads to the Bob Lake area were closed by police as a search of the area was carried out. The authorities were looking for the man's 1979 Delta 88 Oldsmobile, light blue in colour, which had been taken from the cottage.

The search area was later expanded to include portions of Haliburton County. For a while the search was centered on the Kennisis Lake area after a resident claimed she had seen a car matching the description of the missing vehicle.

According to the police, the victim was seen at a Norland Restaurant and a Minden gas bar Thursday, at which time he was accompanied by a second person. The police have been searching for this individual. The person seen with Palmer is described as being male, white, approximately six feet in height, 18 to 20 years of age, slim build with medium length dark hair.

Using the descriptions provided by a number of local witnesses, the police had prepared a sketch of the man seen with Palmer. It was expected the sketch would be available Tuesday. However,

Tourism strategy program considered

A program to develop a tourism planning strategy for Anson, Hindon and Minden is under consideration by the municipal council. The possibility of sharing the effort with the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is also being explored. The matter was raised at the March 24 meeting of the council.

Councillor Gary Kenney, who recently released a report which was highly critical of the local Chamber, said the study could be carried out in co-operation with the county's Economic Development Commission (EDC). The EDC has ceased to exist as a separate entity and is now being administered through the Chamber of Commerce. During Kenney's recent report on the Chamber, it was suggested to the councillor that he take an active part in promoting the area by taking a seat on the EDC board. Thursday Kenney said he was willing to accept that offer to help see the development of the program offered by the province.

Under the sponsorship of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation, 60% funding is available to municipalities to help develop the tourism planning program. The municipality would be required to provide the remaining portion of the funding and take a lead roll in carrying out the study.

According to information from the ministry, "the program would help communities produce practical strategies that will assist tourist operators, developers, investors, planners and municipalities in capitalizing on tourism in their area."

The ministry suggests that the study could be carried out on a regional basis, taking into consideration attractions which neighbouring communities share.

Kenney told the council that the study could help develop a marketing plan for the area, something he felt was lacking in the Chamber's efforts.

The councillor suggested

Society proposes improvements to grounds

The grass may be just starting to peek through the snow, but Anson, Hindon and Minden council turned their thoughts to mid-August during a meeting Thursday afternoon. Wayne Cox, president of the Minden Agricultural Society, sponsors of the Haliburton County Fair, was on hand to obtain approval for a number of changes being considered.

The president told the council the society is interested in constructing indoor washroom facilities at the fairgrounds. An initial investigation has determined the cost to be about $16,000, Cox stated. He said the Minden Kinsmen Club has indicated they would be willing to contribute to the construction of the facilities, and Cox was seeking financial support from the municipality as well.

He noted the facilities could be used during the summer months by individuals at the tennis courts, during the winter carnival and ice car racing as well as when the fall fair was in progress. He suggested the cost of the building could be split four ways with the township, Agricultural society, Kinsmen and a proposed NEED grant taking $4000 of the cost.

Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas suggested the township investigate a parks grant to cover the work. He said it might be the easiest way for the municipality to raise the funds for the project.

Cox suggested the washrooms could be located at the end of a line of trees which cuts across the fair grounds. Connection to the community's water and sewer system would be through the property being developed for senior citizen's apartments, next to the tennis courts.

The council agreed in principle with the proposal.

Further investigation will be carried out to determine the best method of funding the project.

Trailer park

Cox also asked the council to consider the possibility of allowing a temporary trailer park to be established at the rear of the fair grounds during the fair weekend. He noted that the idea has been tried at a number of other fairs in the area with favourable results.

He said the trailer facility would enable more visitors to stay for both days of the fair, allowing them to attend the Saturday night dance without being concerned about reaching home at a late hour.

Several members of council expressed concern about litter left behind by the trailers, the need for a sewage dumping station for the trailers' holding tanks, and the possible disturbance resulting from noise at the park. It was suggested that a holding tank dumping facility could be built into the proposed washroom facility, to handle the trailers.

Cox said the society had yet to determine what they would charge for trailers staying on the property during the weekend. He noted that several trailers have been staying during the past few fairs.

Reeve Lyle McKnight agreed that the trailer facility could help the fair prosper, but he was also concerned about the need to police the area. Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas was less than enthusiastic about the idea, describing it as, "The thin edge of the wedge".

Mini-fair

Cox also requested that the township's proposed mini-fair be moved to the fair grounds for the fair weekend.

Councillor Gary Kenney,

the originator of the mini-fair idea, said it would be a good location for the facility, as it would provide a 'captive market' for the vendors. He was concerned about the moving cost for the booths which he estimated at $500 for the two-way trip.

The council left the matter in Councillor Kenney's hands. Final approval to be withheld until a report is prepared for council.

Arena lease

Council has also agreed to look into the fact the agreement for the use of the arena by the society has expired. Cox asked that the facility be made available to the society both Friday and Saturday evenings, although the only time it is in use is Saturday night.

He pointed out that fair officials need to have access to the arena Friday to prepare it for the dance. He said the fair officials are too busy Saturday to set up the arena for the dance.

However, Councillor Ed Pergolas, who is council's representative on the recreation committee, said tying up the arena Friday night could mean a loss of roller skating revenue for the municipality.

levels. "They seem to be able to close the dams for a day or so to accommodate the White Water Association working on the rapids. Why can't they accommodate us?"

The association president said the Trent - Severn authorities had been reluctant to co-operate with the associations, such as the one he heads, in resolving the water level problems, "...instead of just sending out the same old replies to people's requests."

The letter, which was originally sent to the Haliburton Water Levels Committee, requested that information be supplied on the drawn-down policy in the Minden area and how it affects Twelve Mile Lake and Horseshoe Lake.

No warning

In a related matter, a request from the municipality to obtain information on when the Orillia Water Light and Power Company allows excess water to flow through its dam just above Minden, has drawn a blank. In a report from the clerk-treasurer Elinor Burk, the council was told the company was unable to provide information on when the sluice gates would be opened, how much water would be allowed through or the potential impact on downstream conditions.

The council had requested the information specifically to assist with the gabion basket shoreline improvement project currently underway. At times high water levels either make work on the project difficult or impossible to carry out.

The clerk told the meeting that in a verbal reply from the company, that there was no set schedule for the water flows and that the company was responding to a number of variables including the amount of water being received from upstream, the amount required downstream, the weather and other factors.

Man shot at cottage

police advised the media Tuesday morning that the sketch would not be available and announced that a press conference would be held this morning (Wednesday) to explain why the sketch had not been made public.

Items stolen

The authorities report that a number of items were stolen from the Palmer cottage, although there appeared to be no sign of forced entry or struggle at the scene of the crime. Missing were two shot guns, a .22 calibre rifle, ammunition, the victim's wallet containing credit cards and some personal jewellery. In addition, the police are looking for the victim's car. They feel if it is located, it could be of assistance in helping with the investigation. The car in question is a 1979 Oldsmobile Delta 88, light blue in colour with a licence number NVE 504.

Anyone with information about the missing car, or who may have seen Palmer and his companion last week, are asked to contact the OPP.

Constable Brian Dunham is the investigating officer from the Minden detachment with Detective Inspector Jack Burke of the OPP Criminal Investigations Branch heading up the investigation team. Virtually all the officers of the local detachment, including members of the auxiliary force, were involved in the investigation. As well staff from the Peterborough district headquarters provided technical assistance and the OPP helicopter crew was also involved. Dr. Blair Pierce was the coroner.

the Chamber could spend a portion of the $10,000 increase in the funding it recently received from the county government, to help finance the investigation. The possibility of having a study which covers Lutterworth and Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships is to be considered.

The council agreed to support the program in principle and have the idea presented to the Chamber of Commerce for consideration and discussion. Councillor Gary Kenney and Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas will also discuss the matter at a joint tourism meeting with representatives from Lutterworth Township.

County hears garbage study findings

The long awaited waste management study commissioned by the county was presented at last council meeting, March 16, by Bob Clark of Greer Galloway and Associates of Peterborough. Clark, who took over the study after the formerly assigned consultant left the firm, was accompanied by Bob Galloway and the Ministry of Environment (MOE) officials.

Clark outlined the basics of the study including present disposal systems and potential, cost efficient alternatives.

Presently there is a "wide variation" in the 24 public disposal sites and the eight private waste sites in the county from "sophisticated" fencing and signing at sanitary landfill sites, to unattended, "messy dumps" the meeting was told. The only landfill site in the county is the Scotch Line Road site in Anson, Hindon and Minden. The report advises other municipalities to use the site as an example of good waste management.

Dumps are currently situated around the county based on accessibility to concentrations of population. Clark said this accessibility to sites can be maintained in a more cost-efficient manner.

He suggested, among a number of less viable solutions, transfer stations, large portable metal bins, be placed to enable to closure of smaller, less cost effective dumps. These smaller dumps can cost as much as $20 a ton to maintain, far more than the current county average of about $12 per ton and more than the ideal $6-$8 a ton. "For the municipality, the provision of a transfer station can be a cost effective approach where garbage collection is not practical due to the dispersed nature of development," states the report.

Transfer stations would also permit the use of more remote main dump sites. These sites would also be large to accommodate the waste.

The consulting firm offered the county three options with the transfer site choice.

Option one calls for "seasonal use of transfer stations to serve cottaging areas and seasonal users," at an annual cost of $83,750. This translates into $19.44 per ton of waste and $10.75 cost per household.

The second choice is for the "replacement of existing disposal sites to be phased out," that is the replacement of an accessible site too small to be cost efficient. The study says the proposed transfer station, properly managed could handle more waste than most existing sites in the country. The cost is $26,800 for one such station of three to four bins.

The final option is pointed out by the accompanying cost evaluations as being "not entirely practical." This option is the "strategic location of transfer stations to accommodate all residents and cottages," priced $171,500 annually, $13.92 per ton and $14.82 per household.

All these options will still have to be serviced by dumps, or as these are being environmentally less favourably looked upon, sanitary landfill sites. The dumps cost the 10 municipalities $159,556 in 1981 excepting Sherbourne, McClintock and Livingstone whose figures were unavailable, a figure which would be lessened by the proposed larger and most cost efficient sites.

Clark's study shows the future for replacement dumps to be rather less than rosy. Several prospective sites around the county were examined in light of future development. Of 21 sites considered only three were termed "suitable" by the study. These are situated in Cardiff, Dysart et al and Sherbourne et al.

Praise heaped on Minden's dump

Anson, Hindon and Minden has developed a model dump, according to the waste management study done by Greer Galloway and Associates of Peterborough and presented to county council March 16.

The massive technical appendix to the study discusses each of the 32 dumps, private and public, currently operating in the county. It notes the Scotch Line disposal site is "a very well organized site which is operated as a sanitary land-fill or "modified" sanitary land-fill".

"One particularly good feature is the provision of special bins for dumping ashes, to prevent fires in the refuse," continues consultant Bob Clark's analysis. The report concludes, "this site is a good model for other waste disposal operations in the county. Officials and staff of other municipalities should arrange to visit this site for a good example of site operation and design."

While praise was heaped upon the Minden site, the study also said there aren't any potential sites for future waste disposal sites. The Scotch Line site has anywhere from five to fifteen years left.

"As far as our municipality is concerned, we have five to fifteen years at the Scotch Line site. It also says it's a model dump," said Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas.

Pergolas continues and said he is "disappointed" with the study because of the lack of "recommendations for the future."

The deputy reeve said the township is looking to cut down the expenditures on dumps. In 1981, Anson, Hindon and Minden spent $38,250 or $14.55 a household on disposal. This results in a $15.08 disposal cost per ton. Pergolas also said more fill was used than was needed last year. "Instead of a six foot face we had about a 20 foot face."

Reeve Lyle McKnight echoed many of Pergolas' statements and added a cautionary note. Due to the shortage of future sites, "it's going to get to be a costly item in about 10 years," he said.

Council briefs

The following items were considered at the March 24 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting.

A resolution endorsing a stand taken by K. W. Morris Ltd., concerning the imposition of sales tax on items used in capital works projects, was endorsed by the council. The company has provided the municipality with liquid calcium for application to control road dust during the summer. The provincial government budget change last year resulted in sales tax being applied to items used in capital works construction.

Appointment

Elizabeth Carrell has been appointed to the Art Gallery Committee. The appointment was approved by the council following a recommendation from the committee. Mrs. Carrell fills the vacancy created by the death of Dr. Agnes Jamieson.

Statistics

While Employment Canada may not be able to provide the municipal council with statistics on unemployment in the area, but Statistics Canada, another federal agency, could have the information. The council was informed, through a letter from the county clerk, Win Lahay, that local statistics, gathered as part of the 1981 census could be made available through the federal agency. Previously, Employment Canada has said it was unable to provide any information on unemployment on a township or county basis.

The council indicated it would be interested in the information Statistics Canada could provide.

BIA levy

The 1983 Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA) levy for 1983 was approved by the council. The BIA has requested that $5000 in total be collected for the members to help finance the organization's operation.

The amount is the same as was required last year.

The levy notices are expected to be sent out the end of May.

Tender awarded

A tender for 10,000 cubic yards of crushed gravel has been awarded to Ormell Sand and Gravel of Fenelon Falls. Ormell was one of two companies to respond to the municipality's request for tenders. The successful bid was $14,500. The other bidder, Fred Nelson, offered a price of $18,500.

Regional study needed

The provincial government has offered all municipalities an opportunity to prepare a tourism development planning program. The Anson, Hindon and Minden council is interested in the offer.

According to the information received by the council the province will provide 60% of the funding for a study to identify new development opportunities, create a marketing plan, and help increase the awareness of tourism, among others. The municipality must provide the remaining 40% of the financing and take a leading role in seeing the study through to completion.

While there may be benefits which the municipality could derive from a study concentrating on these three townships, we must question whether the study area is too narrow. Tourism in the Highlands has been promoted on a county-wide basis for a number of years. This approach, according to some, is too broad.

We think the study offered by the province, to be effective, should encompass a regional locale. To this end, the Highway 35 corridor, from the Victoria County boarder north to Dorset seems to form a natural tourism sub-unit in Haliburton County. Indications are that Anson, Hindon and Minden councillors intend to approach the Chamber of Commerce and Lutterworth Council with regard to participating. This invitation should be expanded to include Stanhope Township and possibly representatives from Sherborne et al. Only by assessing the tourism potential and mapping a strategy for future development on a regional basis, will any one of the municipalities along the Highway 35 corridor, including Anson, Hindon and Minden, benefit from the process.

Jobs for youths still lacking

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

When criticized on their record of youth job creation, government representatives generally make two responses: the government has developed new programs and increased funding to deal with the growing problem; and the government alone cannot do all that is needed. The latter response ignores the fact that the government contributes only a small portion of the jobs for young people in the province. While government records show that it will "create" about 93,000 jobs for young people in 1982-83, in fact the majority of the cost of these jobs will be borne by the private sector.

Consider, for example, the Ontario Youth Employment Program ... an annual summer initiative which the government says created 57,000 jobs this year at a cost to the taxpayer of $30.4 million ... the number of jobs directly attributable to the government expenditure is not 57,000 but something more like 22,000.

Moreover, the government has been decreasing its own share of the costs of youth job creation steadily over the past years. the OYEP subsidy has been $1.25 per hour since 1978. While the subsidy level has not changed in the intervening four years, the minimum wage, and hence the private sector wage share, have risen sharply. In 1979 the government share of the per hour cost was 42 per cent of those under 18 and 58 per cent for older students ... the shares are now 47 and 36 per cent respectively.

Even if one takes the government job creation figures at face value, the private sectors and other levels of government are still the major providers of employment for Ontario youth. In the summer of 1982 about 187,000 jobs were created for young people, of which government initiatives accounted for about 44 per cent. Of course 1982 was an abnormally poor year for young people seeking summer jobs. In more normal markets over the past three years approximately 235,000 jobs have been created each summer, of which the government share has been about 27 per cent.

As for the connection that the provincial government has acted adequately to deal with the youth job crisis, again the numbers do not support this claim. From 1979-80 to 1982-83 government funding for youth employment programs increased only 14.5 per cent in total. Adjusted for inflation this means that the government spent 16.5 per cent less on youth programs this year than it did in 1979-80.

Editor:

I am writing in response to the letters I have read regarding the "Minden" Juveniles.

All the letters I have read were not totally right. I have the inside story on the whole mix-up, because I am one of the players that quit. If you can call it that, it was more like forced into retirement.

All year I did not receive equal ice time, but I did receive some ice time. When the play-offs started I did not receive any ice time at all.

At the beginning of the year I had three goals and two assists in five games, but I still had to sit on the bench the greatest part of the games. The most ice time I had all year in a game was when I played for Fenelon Falls against Minden. What I am saying, they did not want me as part of the team.

In the letters on March 16th and 23rd, they all said the reason why we brought down Haliburton players was because Minden did not have enough players. This was just a cover-up, the only reason they brought Haliburton players down was so Minden could have a stacked team.

In a game against Rosseau, Minden only had nine players and I still only got in the game twice. Then they had the nerve to say we needed more players.

I do not lay the blame on Haliburton for causing the Minden players to sit on the bench. I lay the blame where it should be, on the Minden Minor Hockey executives and the Juvenile coaches. They were the ones that invited Haliburton players down with no expense to them. They used the game time and practice time that the Minden players had to pay for.

I know that I am not a very good player, but I try when I am on the ice, which is more than I can say for some of the players on the Juveniles.

I did not expect to get equal ice time in the play-offs, but I did expect to get some, and also expected to get equal ice time in the regular season. The coach told me after a game the reason why I did not see much ice time in the game was because, "They wanted to win" which means that if I played they would have lost.

I thought Minor Hockey was for the enjoyment and entertainment of the boys in our community, but I guess I was wrong. The only important thing is winning.

I totally agree with the man who said, "It is not important if you win or lose, it is how you play the game." I guess some people in this town do not agree with that statement.

Some people may say I am a jerk or a big suck for writing this letter, but let them sit on the bench for a whole game in the freezing cold watching your team mates. Then they will see why I am so angry at Minden Minor Hockey and why I wrote this letter.

Ex-Juvenile,
Harold Cowen,

Council wants change in assessments

There are blocks of land in the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden which are zoned commercial but which are being taxed at a residential rate. The municipal council is currently exploring ways to change that situation.

The matter was raised at the March 24 meeting of the council, when provincial assessor John P. Hill appeared before the meeting to answer the questions of the councillors.

The group was concerned about two areas in particular, large tracts of vacant commercial land and properties where housekeeping cottages are available to the public for rent.

According to Hill, until commercial zoned land is used for a commercial purpose, it is taxed at the residential rate. That means the owner of the property pays a lower tax rate on the property. Hill noted that in some cases where a large tract of land is being assessed, and only a small portion is being used for commercial purposes, the assessment may be split between the commercial and residential tax rates. "There must be a measurable area of the property in commercial use before the commercial factor can be used on the property," Hill told the meeting.

The assessor then explained that his department was guided by a court ruling of several years ago in regard to cottage rentals. He said the case in which the judge ruled that the rental of a cottage in Stanhope Township was not a commercial operation. According to Hill, that ruling has now been applied to the rental of all housekeeping cottages. Hill said the ruling has never been challenged.

The assessor said the rationale is used no matter how substantial the cottage is and whether it is rented on a weekly, monthly or yearly basis.

Councillor Gary Kenney said the implication was that a large per centage of the cottage rental operation in the township are not paying commercial taxes for the property they occupy. "Could we establish that a large portion of our tax base has been eroded by this decision?" Kenney asked. "You would have to take the matter through the courts," Hill suggested.

Kenney said the assessment for the municipality for "vacation destination properties" was about $18,000. He said the majority of these would be assessed at the residential rate.

Hill said the preference for residential assessment on a cottage rental operation applies only to housekeeping cottages. He said assessors determine which category a rental operation falls into by determining the level of service the renters receive. He said in locations where the person renting the cottage prepares his own meals, and maintains the cabin or cottage during his stay, the residential rate is applied. The provision of maid service, for example, would mean a cottage rental operation would then be taxed at the commercial rate.

It was suggested the municipality could change the assessment on cabin rentals by licencing the operations as commercial establishments.

Councillor Kenney suggested the municipality could be losing up to $4000 because the properties are assessed at residential rate and that Dysart et al could be losing six or seven times that amount.

Indications were, following the discussion, that the municipal council intends to pursue the two matters further to determine if commercial assessment can be applied to vacant commercial land and land on which housekeeping cottages are being rented.

By almost any standard, you would have to call the rhinoceros an evolutionary success. For 20 million years or more, it has roamed the grassy plains of Africa in virtually the same form. While apes evolved into man and civilizations rose and fell, the rhino's sturdy build and sinister-looking horn made it almost invincible in its natural habitat. Over 100,000 of the primitive beasts plodded across the East African plains.

Since the Middle East oil boom of 1973, all that has changed. In just eight years, 90% of the world's rhinos have been slaughtered by poachers. And unless the killing can be stopped, soon the only place to see a rhino will be in the protected confines of a few zoos.

The threat to the rhino lies in its horn, a curving mass of matted hair and gelatin which normally would provide protection. For centuries, there has been a market for rhino horns for traditional Asian medicines and love potions, even though their actual value is worthless. But when oil brought prosperity to the Middle East, another market mushroomed. In the oil-rich country of Yemen, a traditional dagger worn by young men suddenly became available to more than just a few wealthy aristocrats. The handle of that dagger is made of rhino horn. As a result, the demand for horn more than doubled, and the price skyrocketed.

An African native who might earn $50 per month can now obtain $500 for the horn of a single rhino. Last year, over 2500 rhinos were killed, reducing still further the odds for survival of the species. In a few places such as the Luangwa Valley in Zambia, a few brave men patrol vast areas on foot to try to curb the poaching. But their task is impossible unless the international trade in rhino horn can be stopped.

Through the Convention on International Trade of Endangered Species, conservationists are trying to dry up the market for rhino horn, and thereby reduce the incentive for poachers. Yemen has recently taken the first steps to make importation of rhino horns illegal, but whether the trade can be stopped in time to prevent the extinction of the world's oldest mammal remains to be seen.

Burk rink takes 'spiel

Neil 'Beagle' Burk was the big winner of the Minden Curling Club's annual Straw and Stone Bonspiel held last weekend in Minden.

Burk ended up with 35 1/4 points following three victories in the two-day event. He defeated Jim Garbutt 6-5; Jane Symons 8-5 and Bill Dillon 9-6 to capture the Hiram Walker Trophy. Curling with Burk were his wife Norma and Ron and Anne Burk.

Second place and the Wrightman Realty Plaque went to the Bob Austin foursome. He used a clutch last rock draw in an extra end to edge Dwight Tomas 9-8, thereby denying Thomas the championship. Down 8-3 after six ends, Thomas scored three in the seventh and stole two in the final end to force overtime. With Thomas lying two, Austin threw a draw to the four foot circle to take the victory. Assisting Austin were Sharon and Alec Kernohan and Doug Coburn. Austin ended up with 34 1/2 points. Thomas' team of Sue Bennett, Merv Mintz and Tony Aymong defeated Garth Kellett 5-1 and Tom Hurtt 11-2 prior to the tilt against Austin.

Shane Blakey's rink of Lisa Raby, John Dillon and Mike Amyotte took fourth spot with 30 1/2 points. Blakey lost his opening game 9-8 to Bill Dillon but rebounded with a 7-4 win over Stan Blears and an 11-7 defeat of Tom Hurtt.

The sixteen team tournament hosted by Dwight

Thomas, Stan and Aileen Blears, Marian Anderson and Sally Bonner allocated prizes to the top eight teams.

Rounding out the prize winners were the teams of Bill Dillon, Lorne Heise, Jim Garbutt and Tom Hurtt. The consolation prize was awarded to the team of Stan and Aileen Blears and Howard and Jean Scott.

The next and last bonspiel of the year is this Saturday's annual ladies 'Sweep into Spring' contest which runs all day Saturday.

The Minden Atoms travelled to Haliburton Tuesday, March 22 for the fourth game of their best of 5 playoff series. Being down 2 games to 1, the Minden boys put forth a good effort but could only master 2 goals to Haliburton's 5. Justin Gentle and Jamie Dollo were the goal getters for Minden.

The loss eliminated the Minden team from further play. Nevertheless coach David Dollo was pleased with the performance of the team throughout this, his first season with them.

With the Pee Wee and Bantam teams already eliminated and the Novice team left without any play-offs, the 1982-83 hockey

Composition honours Terry Fox

On April 15, 16 and 17 a very special concert will be given in Haliburton to honour one of Canada's heroes.

"Requiem for Terry Fox" Opus 7 by Bill Gliddon celebrates the young man who drew the nation together in a common cause and succeeded in raising millions of dollars for cancer research.

Bill Gliddon is a music teacher at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. He has planned the requiem for about two years, starting on the work when Fox was still alive.

"I did want to write a serious tribute to Fox when he was alive. I kept putting it aside. Then, actually the day after he died, I found the inspiration for the piece. He was a very personal hero to me."

Gliddon has toiled on the requiem since that day and even now he makes changes to improve the musical tribute. The arrangement calls for a choir, two trumpets, an organ and Bill has also written a percussion part.

"It started out something small," said Gliddon, looking back at the musical salute, "but it kept growing, until it grew to 55 minutes. I don't know how it did, it's kind of amazing really," he laughed.

Everyone connected with the project feels the same sort of excitement its creator feels, Gliddon confided. In fact, Gliddon says, "I was quite overwhelmed by the response. I had thought it was perhaps too difficult for the choir. But they said, 'let's try it', and they're doing really well."

Bill said the St. George's choir strengthened its sound with additions from other choirs in the area, notably from the United churches. "It's almost an ecumenical venture," he commented.

It has been considered taking the "show on the road" but the participants are primarily concerned with the first performance. Gliddon, the organist at St. George's, said the group had been invited to Minden to perform at St. Paul's on North Water Street.

"The organ itself is unique," said Gliddon. He questioned whether he could bring out the particular sounds needed for the music.

The group had also been asked to present the composition at the high school but along with the varying organ sounds, the auditorium doesn't have the atmosphere Bill feels is important to the presentation.

Gliddon went to the University of Toronto where he obtained his bachelor of music. His teaching has left him very little time to fully take advantage of his schooling but he does manage to do a little writing. "I've written a lot of smaller pieces, works for the choir. Right now I'm writing a trumpet concerto. I'd love to just write music full-time."

Tickets for the event are free and can be picked up at the Health Shelf in Haliburton. Anyone interested should make plans to pick up tickets immediately. Bill says April 15 and 16 has been "sold out" and the extra show, added because of the demand, is already half spoken for. While the concert itself is free, there is the opportunity for voluntary donations. All proceeds from the concert will go to the Marathon of Hope. "I don't think I could profit from it," said Gliddon. "I don't feel it's mine, I've written it for Terry Fox."

The most heartening aspect of the whole concert is the knowledge and acceptance by Fox's parents. One of the rehearsals will probably be taped for the runner's parents.

"The Fox family was even considering coming to the concert. We may have had to cancel due to a bad case of nerves," said the composer - more seriously than in jest.

Music recital presented

Minden Librarian Jeanne Sears introduced Ramon Tarranco to the crowd at Minden Library and Cultural Centre Common Room on Tuesday, March 22.

Ramon's recital continued with an explanation of the various movements in music through its beginnings for the lute and as it went on down the years. His playing was varied and excellent and kept the group from the young through the seniors listening intently.

During the break he talked with everyone and then he continued with the more modern music such as blues, rock and roll, etc. Near the end he played several of his own compositions and these showed his versatility and gave an insight into what guitar music can really be.

This concert was presented through Lake Ontario Regional Library Services and Mary Packard of Haliburton County Public Library Office thanked him. If you didn't get to hear Ramon Tarranco you really missed a great demonstration of classic guitar music.

Lucky passenger

It has been a week for Michael Hughes of Minden to remember.

Last week, he was a passenger in a car which left the road and rolled over in the ditch on Highway 35. He was not injured in the incident.

This week, on the afternoon of March 27, the car in which he was a passenger again left Highway 121 and rolled over in the ditch. Hughes sustained minor injuries and the driver of the 1974 vehicle, Cathy Elder of Minden was taken to Minden hospital with rib injuries. The total damages arising from the accident amount to $10,000.

The accident was investigated by PC David Rogers.

Juveniles win cup

What a series! Amid rumours that both the Minden Monarch and the Powassan North Stars had won their previous series in the Muskoka Cup by default, due to sometimes excessive physical play, the two teams met and gave some credibility to that speculation.

The last game was played Monday night at the Minden arena after the hometown juveniles had reached up a 2-1 lead in the series both wins coming in away games.

The first two periods Monday saw some skillful hockey on both sides with the Minden team able to capitalize on their scoring chances.

Glen Evans started scoring at 11:36 from Scott Mitchell and Kevin Warburton. Warburton was shut out by Powassan goalie Mike Mullen and an often violent defence but still managed to play the thorn in Powassan's side by assisting on five goals despite the special attention paid him.

Peter McIsaac led Powassan with three goals. He scored his first less than 30 seconds after Evans scored, with Dave Wintermute assisting.

McIsaac put the North Stars ahead on a shift about eight minutes later assisted by Jeff Aultman and then Minden never looked back. Warburton set up another goal at 14:01 with Kevin Hamilton doing the damage.

Scot Hamilton scored the next goal at 9:50, Scott Mitchell and Fred Roberts assisting. Before the end of the period, Mitchell pulled off a different kind of upset. A North Star player took out some frustration on Mitchell, who then scored seconds later after his tormenter went into the penalty box.

Near the end of the second period spectators were given a taste of the last aborted frame. Penalties became more frequent.

Scot Hamilton put Minden beyond Powassan's reach with the last goal of the second period, at 0:29. Kevin Warburton picked up his fourth assist.

The third period was remarkable in that Powassan had overlapping penalties for almost 10 minutes. In that time Minden scored two goals. Glen Evans picked up his second goal of the night and Warburton earned his last assist. Jeff Stamp also assisted.

Powassan scored, Peter McIsaac with his third from Garnet Hughes. Minden scored its final goal before the game prematurely ended. At the 14:00 mark, Kevin Hamilton took a pass from Greg Newell and scoring ended.

Basically, from the 14:00 minute mark there were penalties. As mentioned Powassan kept the penalty box doors swinging with a little help from the home team.

Scott Mitchell and Mike Moore had a set-to highlighted by Moore's determination to take a lock of Mitchell's hair from him and Mitchell's determination to wade through all opposition, including referees, to gain revenge. The two were sent off the ice.

At 7:34 Ross Williamson, the Powassan coach was sent out of the game to the satisfaction of Minden fans.

After these two long intermissions, during which referees tried to sort out an unwieldy number of penalties, the game began again, only to be stopped 30 seconds later.

Fred Roberts of Minden was sent off the ice. Greg Newell and Floyd Hughes of Powassan took the opportunity to garner various misconducts and match penalties. Proving that blood is thicker than water, Garnet Hughes of the North Stars jumped the boards to assist his brother, leaving acting coach, spare goalie John Grolman at the bench.

When the air cleared, referee Russ Wright called the end of the game at 7:04.

The game closed at 7-3 and Minden won the Muskoka Cup.

season in Minden is almost at an end.

As we think back on the hockey events of this season and look ahead to those of the next, it might be a good time to review the aims of the O.M.H.A. as outlined in the Constitution of the organization. They are as follows: "To inculcate in the boys certain ideals: to play fairly under all circumstances and all conditions; to give opponents a fair chance and not to take unfair advantage of any opponent; to win modestly and receive defeat with a smile; to give credit to the team that wins; not to question or dispute the referee's or umpire's decision." To set the cause above renown; to love the game above the prize." "Sport for sport's sake and for the greatest number."

Seniors end curling season

The senior curling season came to a close Monday evening with the play-offs supper and trophy presentation at the Minden rink. A large crowd was on hand to take in the final event of the curling year.

The seniors were fortunate in having president Al Stott and his committee to over-see the year's activities. The success of the season was due in large part to their efforts.

The playoffs for the Men's Senior championship was held Monday afternoon with the Cec Yearwood rink taking top honours. Curling with Cec were vice Milt Endicott, second Gerry Durant and lead Syd Adamson.

The Runner-up rink was skipped by Jim Burton. Others in the foursome included vice Bill Donnelly, second Aulie Orpana and lead Syd Adamson. The third place rink included skip Sandy Stewart, vice George Davidson, second Cec Riches and lead Ed Shaw.

The play-off in the mixed division was held Friday afternoon at the rink. This is the first season for the mixed division.

The Jim Grant rink captured first place in the play-off. Members of his rink included Luella Yearwood, Ed Shaw and Georgie Dickie.

Tom Hurta skipped the runners-up. They included vice Maisie McIntosh, second Syd Adamson and lead Ruby Kennedy. The third place rink was skipped by Aubrey Maxwell with Eileen Crawford as vice, Aulie Orpana second and Elizabeth Wright lead.

The closing banquet saw 80 people on hand. They enjoyed a tasty roast beef dinner served by Lil Davidson and her committee. Enthusiasm for the season just over is evidenced by the fact members are already talking about the 1983 - 84 season.

Broom & stone

The winner of the annual Straw and Stone bonspiel was the Neil Burk rink. Curling with Neil were vice Norma Burk, second Ron Burk and lead Anne Burk. For more details and photographs see the special write-up in this week's edition of The Times.

We should make special note however that the "winners" of the consolation prize in the bonspiel were Stan and Aileen Bleas and Howard and Jean Scott.

There are no league standings this week as all the teams are involved with play-offs, except for the seniors who wrapped up their season Monday afternoon. See the separate report and photographs on that league in this edition of the paper as well.

The following are the winners of the March 22 elimination draw:

$10 prizes: Al Barron; Monica McNab; Maxine Snell; Lorne Huisse - all of Minden; John McDermott of Pickering and Rob Reil of Lakefield.

$20 prizes: Albert Foster of Minden.

$25 prize: Bill Roodenburg of Minden.

$50 prize: Al Upton / M. Taylor of Minden.

The schedule

April 2: Ladies Sweep Into Spring bonspiel.

April 15: general meeting, election, nominations and awards.

April 23: annual curling banquet.

Jeff Campbell of Hartwick Construction fires the puck past Home Hardware netminder Terry Crowe to give Hartwick the consolation prize in the men's recreational hockey tournament Saturday. Warren Payne was named most valuable player.

We had a real nice service in the chapel Sunday night, when the Thompsons take the first part, things turn out just right. We enjoy Rev. Burgess and his message, he is so sincere. He spoke twice in Fenelon Falls before coming here. We didn't attend fun and fitness Monday morning, nor movies Monday night. There were three, "The Ark", "The Salmon" (which couldn't find a place to park) also one movie on "Thorough Horses".

We were saddened to learn of the passing of Mr. Watson, of the Watson-Smith musicians, they entertained us so many times, our deepest sympathy to his wife, family and relatives.

Rev. John Smith of the Haliburton Baptist Church, conducted an interesting service in the chapel on March the twenty-second day. It was nice that the girls could come again to sing and play. Tuesday night is Music Night here at Hyland Crest. Last night we had no luck, not one guest. Had I known the residents felt so badly, and maybe some tears were shed, I would have taken my harmonica and played "haste to the wedding".

The weather man has kept us all mixed up the whole winter through, I think he must have found a jug of good old mountain dew. He had the trees starting to bud and all the birds to sing, now he is sending winter when it should be spring.

The ladies in the craft room are doing what they can, some knitting socks and mitts and making afghans. Ted Carr has been making model trains, but thinks he will make no more, he has made a rocking chair which he hadn't tried before. We welcome Mr. Ernie Berry back at Hyland Crest, after being in hospital for some time, we wish him all the best. Mr. and Mrs. George Cowan of Brampton and Mr. Robert Stevens of Toronto visited his sister Ms. Ellen Johnston and others on Thursday, and had lunch with us the next day. Mary Oliver had luncheon guests and Mrs. Jenkins was doubly blessed, she had son Ray and wife as special guests. The ladies of Our Lady of Fatima, served the tea party this nice March day and it was a tempting display. Ray Jenkins played some fine piano music while they served it, by the way.

Some members of the Kinsman Club come each Thursday night to conduct the bingo games. I'm sorry the ones who came last night I didn't get their names; but we thank them just the same.

Friday afternoon Grace Coburn and Fred Ballard came to entertain. Fred played some merry tunes that gave us a thrill, like the birds in the tree tops on Mocking Bird Hill. Grace read a poem and made it so real, I think of just one word and the name was "Lucille".

Mary Oliver has had company from where do you suppose? They are her dear cousins from the land of the rose. They went to Australia and then over here, they are cousins that Mary holds dear. They had a great time, went for a spin, and ended up at PineStone Inn. Now they have gone to Toronto, then on to Vancouver, then I suppose they will fly back to the land of the rose.

The Splendor of Spring

Each time you hear a robin's trill or pick a Spring flower on some hill,

Or see a green shoot break the earth, or watch a daffodil's rebirth,

Or view the clouds pattern of grace, or feel the wind upon your face.

It's God who's saying "lo, I bring new life to all, I am the Spring."

For all of nature, bird and sod, is but a hymn of praise to God.

Wishing all our readers a very joyous Easter.

Hi kids. Here is a quote about the value of poetry. Words that are grouped together in the list will be found together in the diagram. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Some have hidden words or sayings, some do not. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list. It's as easy as that. Have fun.

Q: Why can't it rain for two days continually?

A: Because there is always a night in between.

Q: What speaks every language?

A: An echo.

Q: When does an automobile go exactly as fast as a train?

A: When it's on a train.

Q: What well-known animal drives an automobile?

A: A road hog.

Q: With what two animals do you always go to bed?

A: Two calves.

Q: Why couldn't the pony talk.

A: He was a little horse.

Q: What most frequently becomes a woman?

A: A little girl.

Q: When is a bump on the head like a hat?

A: When it is felt.

Q: How can a leopard change his spots?

A: By moving.

Q: When does a boat show affection.

A: When it hugs the shore.

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.

around the county town

by Yvonne Guida

On Saturday, March 19, I drove to Peterborough to experience one of the most pleasant and exciting weekends I have enjoyed in a long time. I checked into my motel room to be greeted with a gorgeous bouquet of flowers from my friends, welcoming me.

The remainder of the day and Sunday were spent in visiting. Monday, everyone was snowbound, but Tuesday I journeyed to Cobourg to be interviewed on station CFMX by Louise Guy, a very pleasant lady who was most kind. The program was carried on AM and on FM Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. I feel it was a successful interview.

Following this, I had the distinct privilege of viewing a private showing of the genius of Irwin Karnick and the artistry he has achieved with his camera, at the Peterborough Art Gallery. Irwin's credits are almost too numerous to mention. He has worked with major magazines, both national and international, worked on the set of 20th Century Fox 'The Boston Strangler', television programs, and documentaries, and has won many, many awards. He is currently engaged in filming a documentary, and Minden is very privileged to be able to view his show at our Gallery starting in June.

CFMX has lost a great talent in Irwin Karnick. His brilliant concept of programming was unique with most interesting commentaries, poetry and its presentation. Many people in the area are upset by this and it not only is the station's loss, but importantly, those of us listeners fortunate enough to be able to hear the program.

A very happy birthday and much love to my grandson Timmy Gargiulo of Denver, Colorado, who celebrated his birthday, Sunday, March 27.

Through the efforts of the ladies of the Minden Library who have been most obliging, I was able to obtain a copy of the Tiger's Fang. Anyone interested in the study of parapsychology will find this fascinating reading.

Don't forget the Annual Red Cross dinner on Wednesday, March 30 at the Fireside Restaurant, commencing at 6:30 p.m. This should be a fun evening with good food and camaraderie. I understand there will be quite a turnout.

Please keep in mind the exhibit by local artists being shown at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, entitled Hodgepodge. The show will run from March 30 to April 9. Do come and support your local Gallery. Also I would like to remind you of the memberships available for the Gallery. Single memberships are $10.00 and family memberships $15.00. There are many advantages in becoming a member. For information call 286-2539.

I am very sorry to report the death of Karen McDonald, formerly of Minden, who perished in a fire in Oshawa Saturday evening. Karen leaves her husband Ian, and three children.

Mrs. Mary Windover spent last week in Lindsay visiting her daughters.

Mrs. Florence Schlosser spent a week in Toronto visiting family and friends.

A lovely birthday party was held at the Sunrise Apartments last week for Mrs. Windover, Ann Rockory, Lil Porter and Verna Jarvis.

We hope these ladies had a very happy birthday, and we wish them many, many more.

A birthday party, only this one a surprise, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cox, last Friday evening. The celebration was in honour of Bess's sister-in-law's birthday, Birdeena Cameron. After a very enjoyable dinner at The Fireside, Clayton, Birdeena and children Beth and Luke joined Bess and Fred at their home for a lovely visit and cake and ice cream.

Mrs. Lil Porter had her daughter and son-in-law visiting her on her birthday.

The winners of the Card Party at St. Paul's are as follows -- cribbage, Cora Hewitt, euchre, high - Shirley Elcomb, lone hands on a cut, Carol Francis.

I am very sorry to report the death of Mr. Norman Yakely of Whitby who died suddenly on Monday, March 21 of a heart attack. Norman is survived by his wife Diane, two daughters, brother Albert, sister Alva Paisley of Lutterworth Pines, brothers Gordon and Herbert. Our deepest sympathy to the members of his family and friends.

My love and the bitter wind
Laughed and kissed each other
Then gamboled off somewhere to play
Far beyond tomorrow.
I built my castle in the sand
One lovely summer day,
The sea stretched out its greedy hands
And carried it away.
Then I am dead and in my shroud
And my soul is lost amid the crowd
Will flowers spring from my sightless eyes?
And leafy tendrils upward rise
To help assuage the loneliness
That never stilled within my breast,

And will the sun still rise once more
Just as it always did before?
Still holding in its shining ray
The promise of another day?
Oh yes the sun will rise again
And birds will chirp their sweet refrain,

The world stops not for such as I
With but a glance, it passes by
For though a tiny grain of sand
Along an endless golden strand,
Its empty stretches marred and ribbed
I still am grateful to have lived.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank two persons who helped to make the 1982 - 83 Minden Men's Recreational Hockey enjoyable again this year. Firstly, to Brian Sisson and his arena staff for providing such an excellent facility to play in - it is a pleasure to play in such a well maintained arena. Secondly, to Mr. Al Hartwick and Allan Hartwick Construction for your continued support throughout the season. We wish we could have won the playoffs for you, but "lest" the new champs forget, we did finish first over the season. Thanks again gentlemen! Finally, grudgingly, but in good spirit - congratulations to the winners. See you next year.
Team: Al Hartwick Const 1982 - 83. Team Captain: Sid MacKeigan

We would like to extend a thankyou to the following businesses and individuals for making our 1982 - 83 season and tournament a success. Home Hardware, Hall's Insurance, Al Hartwick Construction, The Rockcliffe, Dollo's I.G.A., Haliburton Men's League, Referees, Volunteer Time-Keeper, The Times and the Arena Staff. Without all your support our league couldn't exist.
Minden Men's Hockey Assoc.
